

SRAI - FAITH

How many times I've stumbled lost my faith's embrace?
In shadows deep I've wandered
Seeking saving grace

The sun's warm light above yet distant from my reach
Outstretched hands fall short lessons life will teach
I yearn to hold belief find a path to climb
From this abyss I'll rise leaving darkness behind

Though drowning far and wide
A way out I'll unveil
In darkest hours I'll guide
To the light I'll set sail

Through battles fought like hell
Scars etched upon my soul
I faced the fiercest storms
Pressed on to gain control

Within my spirit's core a flame begins to burn
From brokenness I'll soar a hopeful tide's return
A warrior I stand to fight and endure
A heart ablaze I am with fire strong and pure

No matter how hard I try
I'll find my way to the faith

I'll battle 'til I break my bones may fracture true

I'll bleed for my own sake every trial I'll push through

Though pain may be my mate and struggles seek to mire

With laughter I'll negate

Rising ever

Rising higher