

Fathomless Ruin

Morning Rises with eternal Tides

Immortal Army with our hammers high

Facing the darkness , we shall fear no pain

Across the black to bring the death of their days!

The Dawn has come

Sun cracks the sky

Skies red as blood

The break of light

Swords on our backs

The sharpened steel

Cold as the night...

Stow your shields, grab oars, and set your sails

Ready for the fight

Gods are smiling, rallied to our sides prayed throughout the night

Cut the waves, and feel our power,

many ships astride

Soon we'll be ashore to wreak havoc weak will pay with lives

Morning Rises with eternal Tides

Immortal Army with our hammers high

Facing the darkness , we shall fear no pain

Across the black to bring the death of their days!

Smash through waves, seas frothing
Blinded by our pride
Deep beneath the sea, death stirring
Waiting for its time
All will fear me....
Seas of fury...

This boiling sea,
Gifts unto me,
Taker of lives....
Piercing through the waves arms stretched 8 Whipping, grabbing knives
Beast of oceans Sheppard of the sea
Coming for his prize
Powerless to fight we bear witness
Helpless in our plight.
He's come to take our ships, and men
Our Fathomless Demise

Men flung from ships, thrown like stones through the dawns early light
Splintering masts, and our bones with such ease what a sight
Kracken will end our tale.

Arms wrapped around all my friends
Taking us down to the depths depths swallow all mortal men, water, our very last breath

Waking to the cold of the ocean, gasping for my breath
Shattered ships in blood, still floating, swimming for my life
Kraken's Fury
Robbed of Glory
Standing on the ruined armada, no men survived.
The beast showed me a story to be,
Told for all mankind!

Foreign lands, are where I meet the dawn a solemn Viking, he will carry on.
Fear of the sea still lingers, blood still on his breath.
Fathomless ruin, will haunt him until death.